FOLLOW TEAM AUSTRALIA

Winners of the ICC Cricket World Cup trophy for a record four times, in 1987, 1999, 2003 and 2007, Australia will be hoping to better its own achievement by winning the 2011 trophy. It holds a tournament record 29 consecutive World Cup matches without a loss, a streak dating back to 23 May 1999, where it lost to Pakistan during the group stage of the event. Australia begins its campaign against Zimbabwe at Ahmedabad and the team will rely on the successful captaincy of Ricky Ponting for a fifth title. With a strong line-up of players including Mike Hussey, Shane Watson and Mitchell Johnson, it will be one of the favourites to win the title.

FOLLOW TEAM PAKISTAN

Pakistan made history when it won its first ICC Cricket World Cup title in 1992. Playing in his final ODI, skipper Imran Khan led his team to an unforgettable 22-run victory over England to claim the trophy. Since then, the closest the team has come to winning the trophy was in 1999, when it suffered an eight-wicket loss to Australia at Lord's in the final. All eyes will be on Shahid Afridi, who was instrumental in the team's WT20 win, as well as the Akmal brothers, Kamran and Umar Gul when it takes on Kenya in its opening game.

No team will be more desperate to win the ICC Cricket World Cup title than New Zealand, who despite reaching the semi-finals of the 1975, 1979, 1992, 1999 and the 2007 event, have never won the tournament. The last World Cup saw Sri Lanka thrash the Kiwis by 81 runs in the semis and Daniel Vettori's men will be hoping to lift the curse with a tournament win in 2011. Key players expected to shine in the tournament include Vettori, Ross Taylor, Brendon McCullum, and Kyle Mills.

FOLLOW TEAM SRI LANKA

Sri Lanka's moment of glory in the ICC Cricket World Cup arrived in 1996, when the team, led by Arjuna Ranatunga, defeated Australia by seven wickets to claim its first CWC title. In a repeat of the 1996 event, Mahela Jayawardena led the team to the CWC 2007 final in Barbados, but was defeated by the Australians by 53 runs (D/L method). With plenty of talent in the squad, which includes the likes of Jayawardena, Kumar Sangakkara, Tillakaratne Dilshan, Nuwan Kulasekara and the spin attack of Muttiah Muralidaran and Ajantha Mendis, the team has every opportunity to reclaim the trophy once again at home.

FOLLOW TEAM ZIMBABWE

Zimbabwe is known to create upsets in the ICC Cricket World Cup as it did against Australia in 1983, England in 1992, and India and South Africa in 1999. In the ICC World Twenty20 2007, it also delivered one of the biggest shocks in the competition when it achieved a stunning victory over Australia. Some from that WT20 side still remain and the likes of Tatenda Taibu and Charles Coventry will be relied upon for runs, while Ray Price has established himself as an excellent bowler.

Canada qualified for the ICC Cricket World Cup 2011 after finishing as runners-up to Ireland at the ICC CWC Qualifier 2009 in South Africa. It first featured in the tournament in 1979 and its greatest moment of glory came in 2003 when it beat Full Member Bangladesh by 60 runs in South Africa. John Davison also broke the record in that tournament for the fastest century in CWC history. The side will depend on Rizwan Cheema, Umar Bhatti, wicket-keeper Ashish Bagai and all-rounder Sunil Dhaniram for a good show in the event.

FOLLOW TEAM KENYA

Kenya shocked the cricketing world with its fairytale run in the ICC Cricket World Cup 2003 event, reaching the semi-finals by victories over Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Zimbabwe and New Zealand (match forfeited). The sub-continent also holds special memories for the African nation when it famously defeated West Indies by 73 runs in the ICC CWC 1996 event. Kenya is capable of staging a few upsets and will rely mainly on the experience of Steve Tikolo, batting skills of Alex Obanda and Collins Obuya, and bowling of Hiren Varaiya, Peter Ongondo and Lameck Ngoche.

Group B

FOLLOW TEAM INDIA

Cricket fever in India exploded after it won the ICC Cricket World Cup in 1983, when 'Kapil's Devils' convincingly defeated the previously invincible West Indies by 43 runs in the final at Lord's. It is the only time that India has won the event to date, but it did finish as runners-up at the 2003 event. Under the able captaincy of MS Dhoni, who led the side to victory in the inaugural ICC World Twenty20 in 2007, the number-one ranked Test team in the world could very well lay its claim on the 2011 trophy. The team boasts of a strong batting line-up including maestro Sachin Tendulkar, Virender Sehwag and Yuvraj Singh, while bowlers Harbhajan Singh and Zaheer Khan will be relied upon for wickets.

FOLLOW TEAM SOUTH AFRICA

Having won an ICC event only once - the ICC Champions Trophy in 1998 - Graeme Smith's men will be hoping to improve on its record when it takes on West Indies in its opening game. The Proteas' success in the tournament extended only as far as the semi-finals of the 2007 event where it was out-witted by Australia by seven wickets at St. Lucia. The team is not short of talent with the likes of AB de Villiers, Jacques Kallis, Dale Steyn, Hashim Amla, and Herschelle Gibbs, who famously hit six sixes in an over at the last World Cup against Netherlands, relishing the challenge to lift South Africa to world glory.

FOLLOW TEAM ENGLAND

England has never won the ICC Cricket World Cup, finishing as the runners-up in 1979, 1987 and 1992. It has not made the semi-finals of the event, since that tournament in 1992, and suffered a disappointing event in 2007, losing four of its seven games in the Super Eight stage. The batting unit is looking stronger than in recent years with Paul Collingwood, Kevin Pietersen and Eoin Morgan, while the likes of James Anderson and Graeme Swann will be relied upon for wickets.

FOLLOW TEAM WEST INDIES

Once considered to be invincible in the game, West Indies will be looking to history for inspiration if it has to win the 2011 event. Winners of the first two CWC events in 1975 and 1979 at Lord's, the West Indies have much work to do if they want to emulate those two great sides. Led by the swash-buckling Chris Gayle, who can rip apart the best bowling attack, the team has several key players including Shivnarine Chanderpaul, Ramnaresh Sarwan, Darren Sammy and Dwayne Bravo who have the potential to capture the trophy.

FOLLOW TEAM BANGLADESH

Bangladesh is one of the hosts of ICC Cricket World Cup 2011. It made its CWC debut in 1999 when it surprisingly defeated Pakistan by 62 runs in England. Arguably the greatest moment in its cricketing history came when it defeated India at the ICC Cricket World Cup 2007 and Shakib Al Hasan's men will be looking for more scalps in 2011. The side will depend on the all-round skills of Hasan and fast bowler Mashrafe Mortaza, while batsman Tamim Iqbal is expected to be one of the most exciting batsmen at the event.

CRICKET IRELAND

Ireland cemented its place as the top Associate team in the world with a nine-wicket win over Canada in the final of the ICC Cricket World Cup Qualifier in South Africa in April 2009. Many from the CWC 2007 squad, including William Porterfield, who scored 515 runs in the qualifying event, Trent Johnston, Boyd Rankin and Niall O'Brien still remain, and it will be looking to secure a Quarter-Final place.

The Netherlands gained a spot in the ICC Cricket World Cup 2011 by finishing fourth in the qualifying event in South Africa in 2009. Not new to the tournament - the Dutch have earlier featured in the 1996, 2003 and 2007 CWCs - Peter Borren's side will be look forward to creating an upset similar to its inspirational four-wicket victory over hosts England in ICC World Twenty20 2009. LOVE AHMEDABAD

Ahmedabad is Gujarat's major city and a startling metropolis – a charming amalgamation of old world charm and new world noise. It has a rich Muslim history, a beautifully restored old city, stunning museums and fine restaurants.

Ahmedabad is home to the Sardar Patel Gujarat Stadium that has hosted dozens of all forms of international cricket matches. Established in 1983, the stadium has floodlights, and a capacity of 48,000 spectators – all of whom will be screaming at the top of their voices, supporting their favourite teams!

LOVE BENGALURU

The Garden City, as it is called, has a well deserved reputation for the green spaces it advertises; coupled with the youthful energy and disposable income of the 'ITocracy' makes it a very popular destination for cricket matches, both domestic and international.

The floodlight capable M Chinnaswamy Stadium with a capacity of 38,400 is located in downtown Bengaluru and is walking distance from most pubs, restaurants, parks, malls and 5-Star Hotels. Accessibility from the two main railway stations that service the city is also good. The stadium was first used for First-class matches during the 1972-73 season and later earned Test status when it staged the first Test of the 1974 series between India and the West Indies (Nov 22 to 27). The West Indies greats Sir Vivian Richards and Gordon Greenidge made their debut in this Test. Since 1974 it has been a regular Test and One Day International venue.

LOVE CHENNAI

India's Southern Metropolis is also her most humble city. Chennai is a city that is far friendlier than most cities its size – in fact it is so modest that a visitor is hardly likely to notice that it is actually an economic powerhouse and has a buzzing showbiz industry!

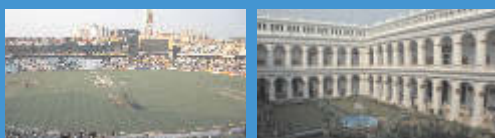

Chennai houses the MA Chidambaram stadium, which was established in 1916 and has a capacity of approximately 40,000 spectators. The stadium is undergoing a major upgradation to add a number of features and make it World Cup ready! The ground has seen some memorable moments in world cricket – Virender Sehwag's 319 against South Africa, Saeed Anwar's 194 against India and Narendra Hirwani's spectacular bowling figures of 16/136. It is getting ready for a lot more this World Cup!

LOVE KOLKATA

India's cultural and intellectual capital, lovingly called the City of Joy is home to some of the most fanatical sports fans in a country that considers cricket a religion. The Eden Gardens ground is the oldest in India (established in 1864), and has hosted first class cricket since 1917. Host to the 1987 World Cup final, the stadium became floodlight capable in 1993 and is likely to hold 82,000 of the world's most cricket crazy spectators after renovations in preparation for the 2011 World Cup. Watching a match at the Eden Gardens stadium is an experience unlike any other and definitely not to be missed.

The North Indian town of Mohali is located on the outskirts of Chandigarh, the city that serves as a capital to the two states of Punjab and Haryana. Mohali is best known for the excellent cricket stadium, houses and the memorable matches that have been hosted here.

The floodlight capable Punjab Cricket Association (PCA) stadium in Mohali has a capacity of approximately 30,000 spectators and staged its first international match (India Vs South Africa) in 1993. Since then, the ground has played host to a number of matches of all forms of the game.

LOVE MUMBAI

Measure out: one part Hollywood, six parts traffic, a bunch of rich power-moguls, stir in half a dozen colonial relics (use big ones), add some swish bars (don't skip on quality here for best results), equal parts of mayhem and order, ancient bazaars, a handful of Hinduism, a dash of Islam, fold in your mixture with equal parts, throw it all in a blender on high and presto: Mumbai. India's Maximum City, her city of dreams. Mumbai houses one of India's most loved stadia – the Wankhede. Established in 1974, with a capacity of 40,000 people, the Wankhede has seen some of the most memorable matches and individual performances in the history of the game. Innings like Sunil Gavaskar's 205 and Kallicharran's 187 in the same game against the West Indies (1978-79), Vinod Kambli's 224 against England in 1992-93 and Ravi Shastri's six sixes in an over in a first class match en route his double hundred in 1984-85 have all immortalized this ground. When the batsmen pad up and the bowler gets ready to bowl, there are few in the world who can control the frenzy the spectators go into!

LOVE NAGPUR

Nagpur, India's geographical center and orange-growing capital is a clean and affluent city, which provides for easy access to some of India's famous tiger sanctuaries. Like the rest of India, the people here also consider cricket a religion, and as should be expected, Nagpur is home to a modern cricket ground.

The Jamtha stadium, established as recently as 2008, is located about 16 km from the city of Nagpur, in the village of Jamtha. With floodlight capability and a capacity of almost 45,000 spectators, the stadium has, in a short time, hosted cricket matches of all forms of the game. World class facilities and a crowd that loves the game make for a heady mix at the Jamtha!

LOVE NEW DELHI

The national capital of the country considered a leader amongst the developing world lives up to the expectations one would have from it. This vibrant city, home to India's parliament also houses some of her finest architectural structures, showcasing the history that it has seen over several centuries of existence. New Delhi is best known within India, not without reason, for its culinary delights. While here, experiencing the street food is a must.

New Delhi's favourite cricket ground, the Feroz Shah Kotla, is one of India's oldest. Established in 1883, it hosted its first test match in 1948 when India took on the West Indies. Having never looked back since then, the ground has hosted some great matches and has borne witness to a number of memorable moments for world cricket. The most memorable of which would have to be Anil Kumble's feat of bagging ten wickets in a test match innings in 1999, something only one other person in world cricket (Jim Laker, 1956) had been able to do before that.

LOVE COLOMBO

Colombo, Sri Lanka's capital, biggest city and major port, draws together all the colours and cultures that make up this island nation, condenses them into a patchwork of markets, gardens and buildings, both humble and grand, and knocks them against a narrow slab of beachfront. There's colonial heritage, fine dining, and plenty of shopping opportunities in the city. As a major cricket playing nation of the sub-continent, Sri Lankans are passionate about the sport.

Colombo's R Premadasa stadium is a floodlight capable, 28,000-seater location for cricketing extravaganzas. Opened in 1986 with a match between the Sri Lanka (B) and England (B) teams, the stadium is the biggest in Sri Lanka. It is best remembered as the venue where Sri Lanka posted the highest total in world cricket - 952/6 declared, against India in 1997-98. The mammoth total was achieved on the back of plenty of broken records and great moments for the spectators!

LOVE KANDY

Kandy is sometimes referred to as the only other 'city' in Sri Lanka, other than Colombo. The easy-going capital of the Hill Country has a lot to offer - history, culture, forested hills and a touch of urban buzz. Only 115Km inland from the capital, climatically it is a world away due to its 500m altitude. Kandy served as the capital of the last Sinhalese kingdom, which fell to the British in 1815 after defying the Portuguese and Dutch for three centuries.

The Pallekele International Cricket Stadium in Kandy is a fairly recent establishment, having been set up in 2009 with a capacity of 26,000 fans in preparation for the World Cup 2011. The stadium is scheduled to commence its World Cup activity with a high profile clash between New Zealand and Pakistan on March 8, 2011.

LOVE HAMBANTOTA

The commercial city of Hambantota is located in the south of Sri Lanka and is famous for its sandy beaches and the easy access it allows for the nearby Bundala and Yala National Parks. Currently, Hambantota is undergoing massive infrastructural development, with an international airport among other facilities coming up.

The Suriyawewa International Cricket Stadium is being constructed about 8Km from the city, and is scheduled to be completed by October 2010, in preparation for the World Cup. The stadium is being equipped with floodlights, and will see World Cup action when Sri Lanka takes on Canada on February 20, 2011.

LOVE DHAKA

Dhaka is more than a city - it is a giant whirlpool that sucks in anyone who ventures close to it. The unique thread that holds the city together is visible in the cauldron that it is - of art, intellect, passion, love, hate...it is an urban melting pot that's bubbling over.

Dhaka inherits Bangladesh's and on a larger scale, the subcontinent's passion for cricket. And although the Bangladesh cricket team has started achieving heights recently, it hasn't stopped millions of Bangladeshis from following the sport with fervour. Dhaka's Sher-e-Bangla National Cricket Stadium was built in 2006 and can hold 27,000 spectators. Located around 10Km from Dhaka, the stadium is touted to have the best drainage facility of any stadium in the subcontinent.

LOVE CHITTAGONG

Chittagong, Bangladesh's second largest city, is also the country's biggest port. The super ships lined up at the docks bring with them much more than goods - they bring philosophies, ideas and fashions from around the world. This cosmopolitan exchange of minds is perhaps why Chittagong presents a fascinatingly different side of Bangladesh.

Clearly, watching a match in Chittagong has to be an experience like none other. The Zohur Ahmed Chowdhury Stadium, situated about a half hour outside the city centre, was one of five purpose-built cricket grounds established in the run up to the 2004 U-19 World Cup. After being granted full international status in 2006, the stadium, with a capacity of 16,000 people, has hosted a number of international matches, including those where the home team has taken on Sri Lanka.

What is to stop people applying for Tickets under various names?

We have sophisticated software and strategies in place to ensure that all of the rules and regulations are followed. The ticketing strategy has been designed with controls and checks at every stage of the process to ensure the ICC CWC 2011 Terms and Conditions of ticket sales are adhered to at all times. Any ticket obtained in breach of the ticket Terms and Conditions will be deemed null and void; the ticket/s will not be refunded and entrance to the venue will be prohibited. To view the ICC CWC 2011 Terms and Conditions please go to www.iccevents.yahoo.com.

If there are no tickets currently available for a specific match-day on the website does that mean that the venue is fully sold out?

Not necessarily, as with all global events, there may be circumstances that result in tickets being released back for general sale over the course of the next several months. You are advised to monitor the official ticket website regularly.

Can I collect my ticket on the match day?

Yes you can collect your tickets on the match day although it is recommended that you collect tickets before match day to avoid any queues and delays in entering the stadium. Please bring all the documents mentioned on the confirmation page and email so as to ensure quick fulfilment of the tickets.

Can someone else collect the tickets on my behalf?

Yes. You will need to designate the person when buying. Also, please ensure that you follow the documentation requirements specified in the confirmation page and email.

What if my Tickets are lost or stolen? Can I get replacements?

This will be based on the sole discretion of the ICC CWC 2011 organizers. Please ensure that you keep the tickets safely once they are in your possession. Tickets will be shipped closer to the start of the tournament to prevent opportunities for loss and forgery.

Will I get a refund if the match/es to which I have bought tickets is rescheduled or cancelled?

Please see the ICC CWC 2011 Ticket General Terms & Conditions for full details.

Should my tickets be damaged can I get my Tickets replaced?

No, they cannot be replaced. Please take care of your tickets – exposure to water, dirt, heat or sunlight may damage them. Should any part of a ticket become illegible, it may result in the holder being refused admission.

What do I do if my account gets charged and I do not get a confirmation page or email?

Please write to us immediately at cwchelpdesk@kyazoonga.com. We will investigate and get back to you with a resolution within 7 working days.

Are there any provisions to accommodate wheelchair-bound fans, if so what are they? Also, is there companion seating?
